Forecast For Northeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 28 Dec 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Mostly dry with clear spells tonight, and frosty by dawn.

This Evening and Tonight:
A mostly dry night with the cloud gradually breaking up to give some clear spells, which may allow some mist and fog patches to form in places. Light winds and a chilly night, with a touch of frost around dawn. Minimum temperature -2 deg C (28 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cloud quickly spreading in from the west early in the morning, bringing heavy rain and blustery winds. Becoming drier in the afternoon but still breezy and feeling very mild. Maximum temperature 12 deg C (54 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Bright and breezy Thursday, heavy rain possible overnight. Mostly cloudy but dry on Friday and into Saturday, before rain returns from the northwest late in the day. Feeling mild throughout.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.